

WHY AGILE IS FAILING
at the ENTERPRISE
And at least a thing or two that can be done about it.

LEADINGAGILE

Hillel Glazer
hillel.glazer@leadingagile.com
+1443.977.6696

www.leadingagile.com
twitter.com/hi11e1
facebook.com/leadingagile
linkedin.com/in/hillelglazer

LEADINGAGILE

WHY AGILE WORKS

LEADINGAGILE

Team

LEADINGAGILE

User Story
User Story
User Story
User Story
User Story
User Story
User Story

Team

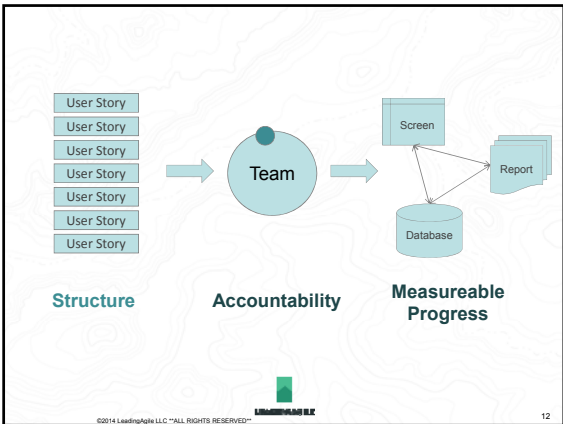

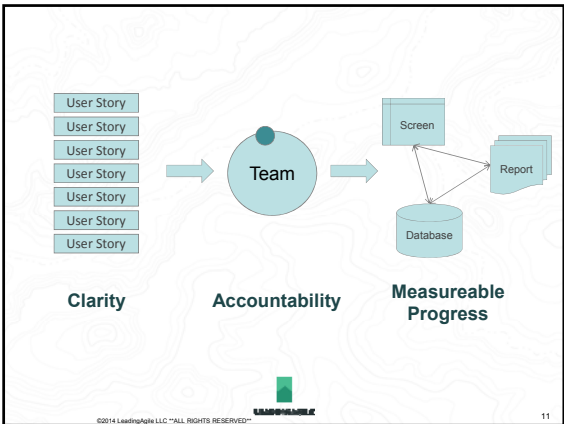

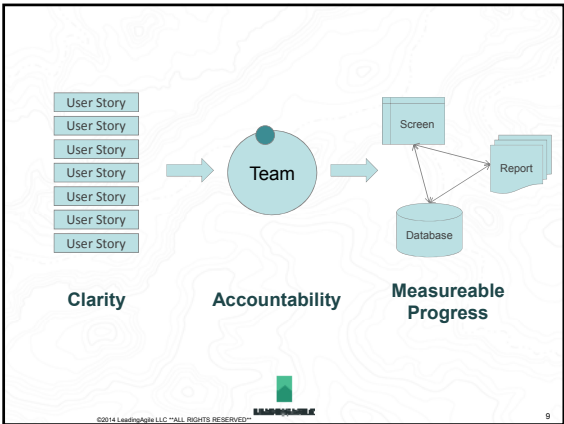

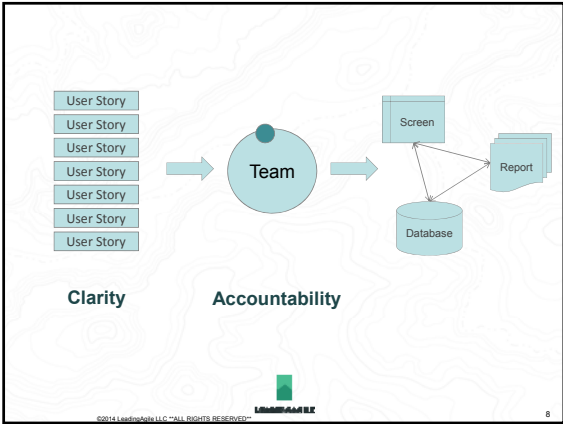

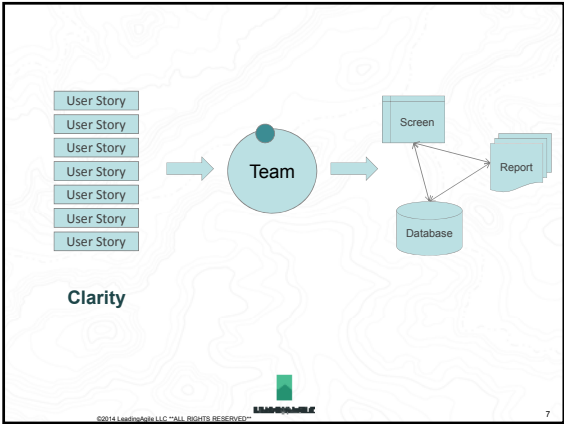

LEADINGAGILE

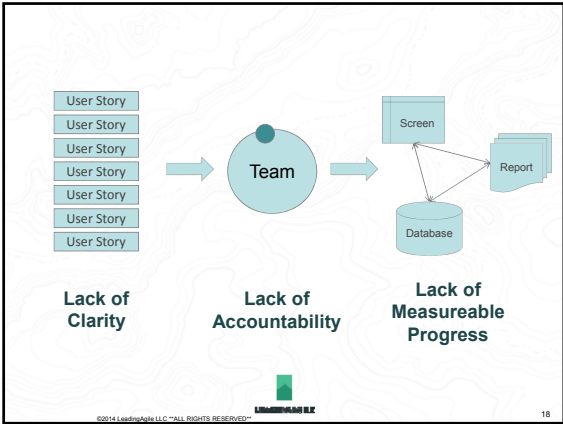

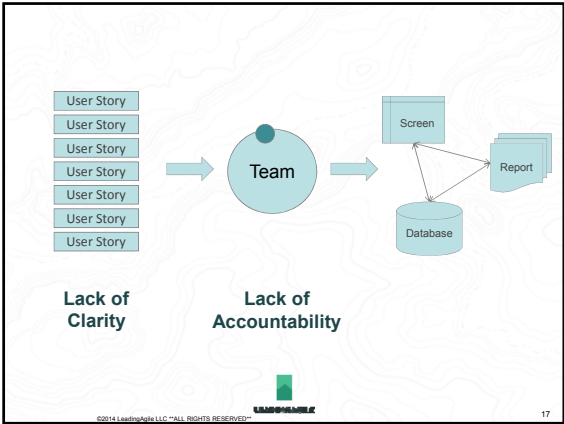

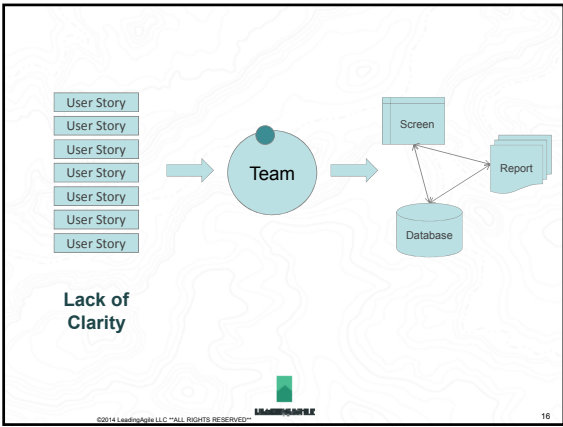

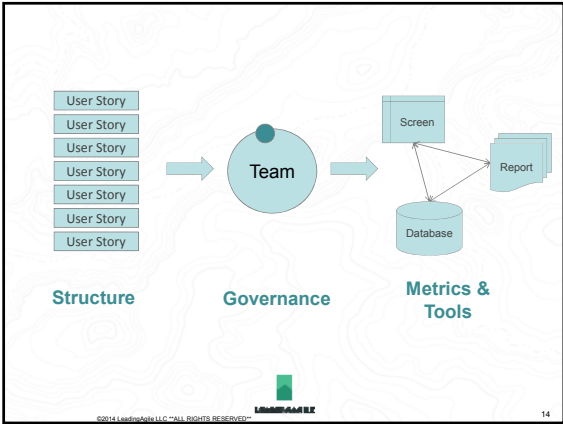

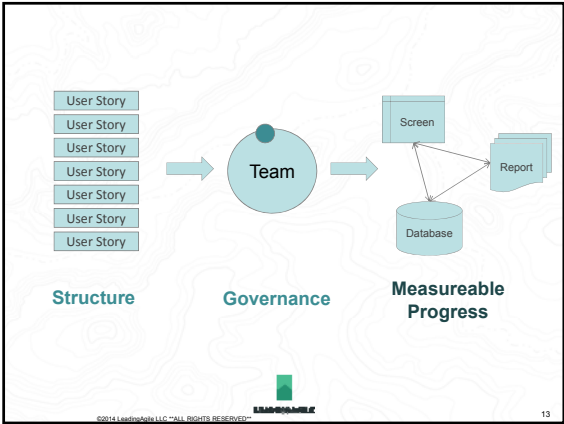

User Story
User Story
User Story
User Story
User Story
User Story
User Story

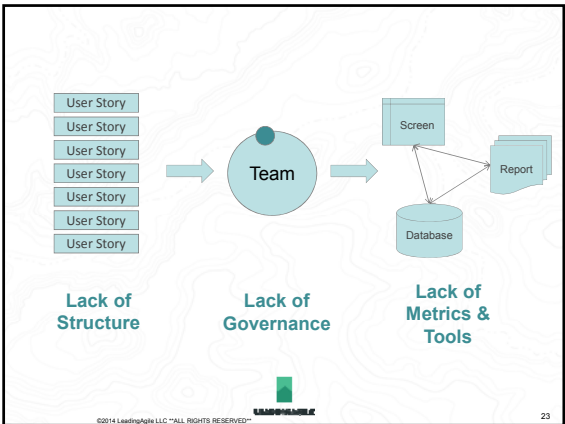

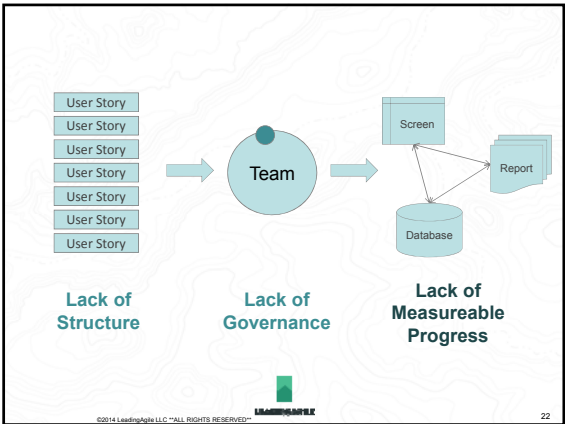

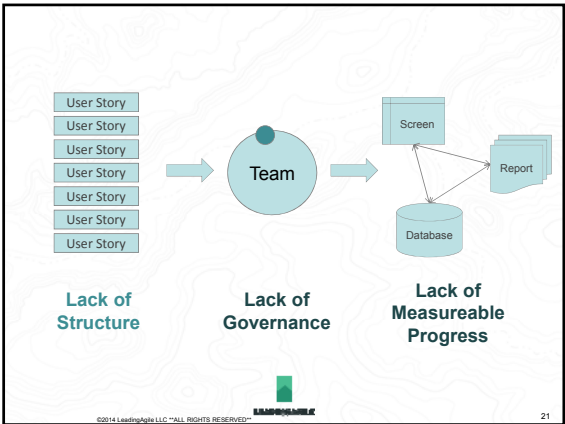

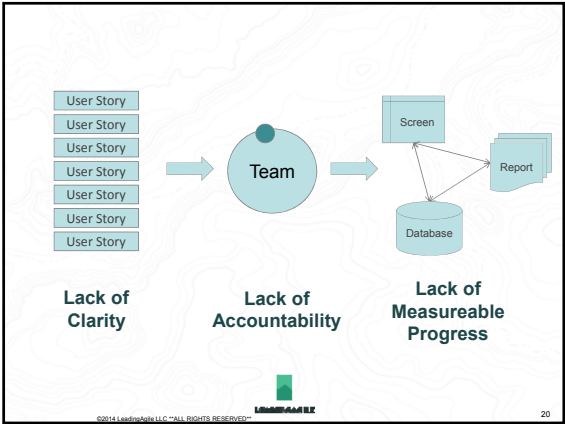

Team

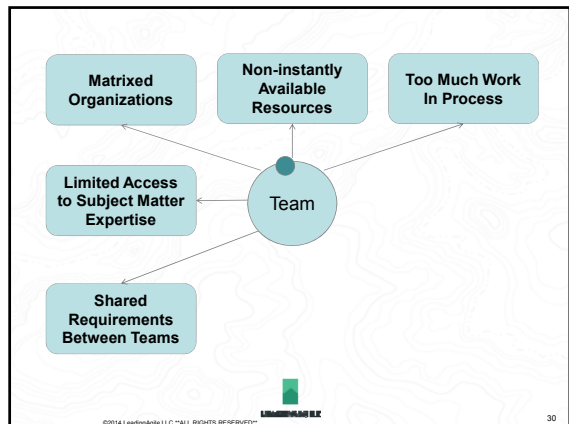

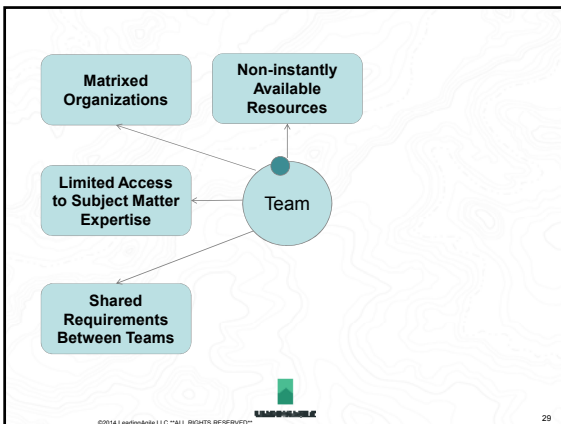

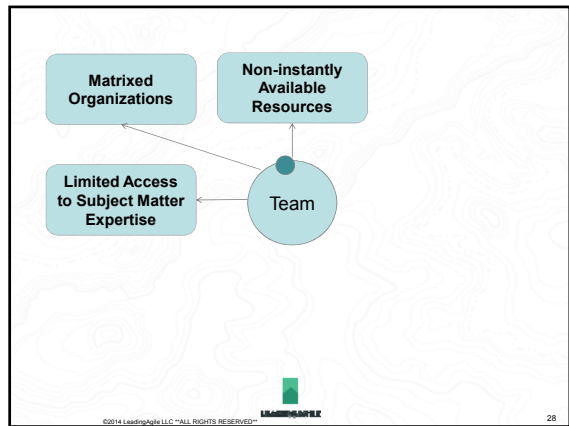

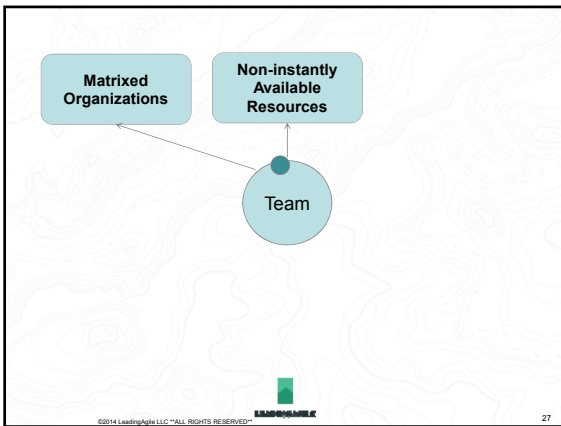

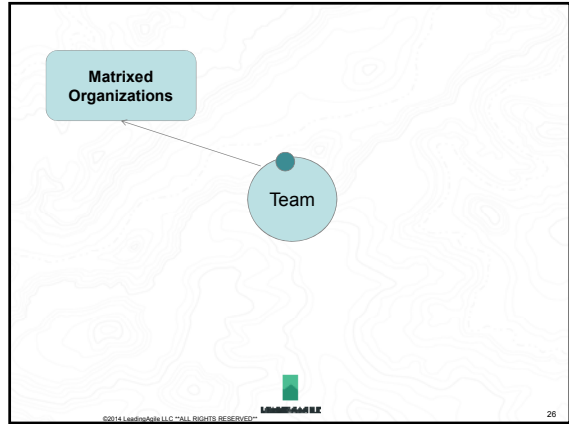

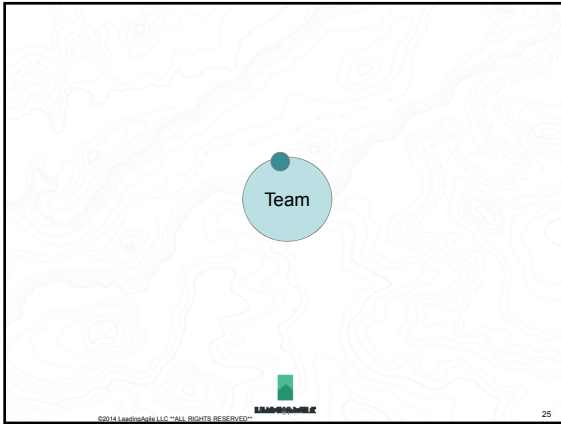

Screen
Database
Report

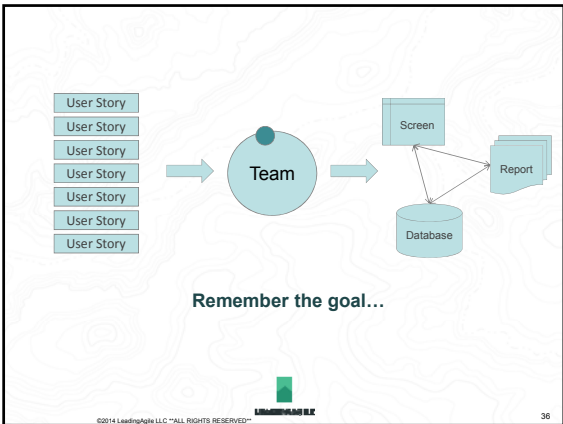

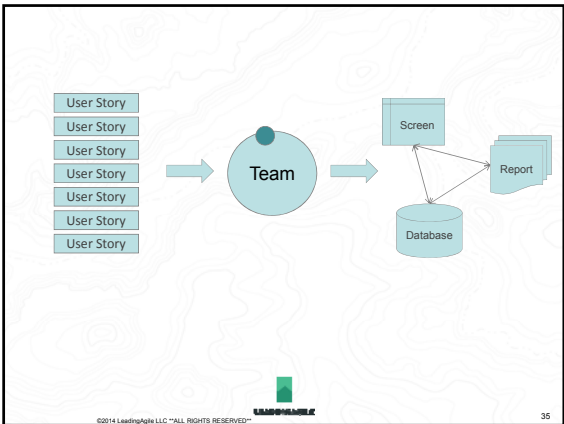

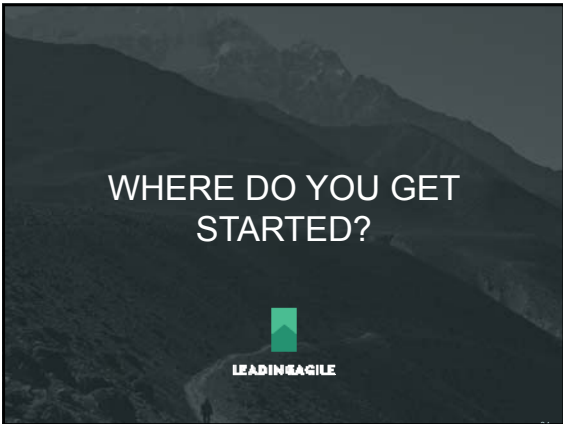

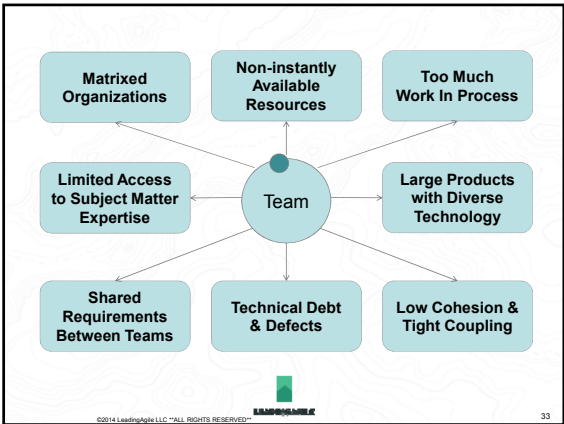

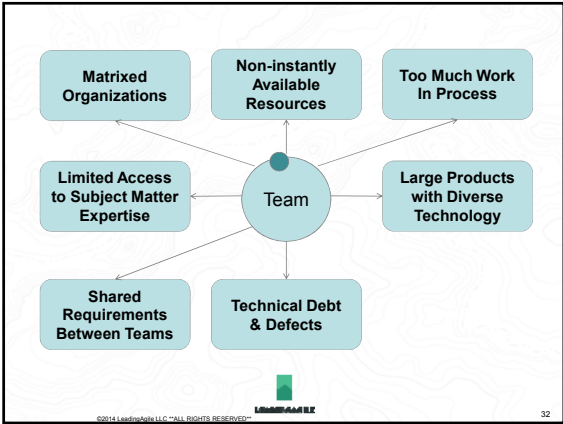

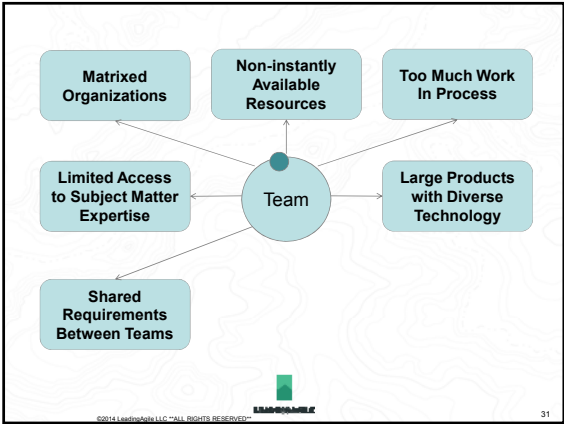

LEADINGAGILE

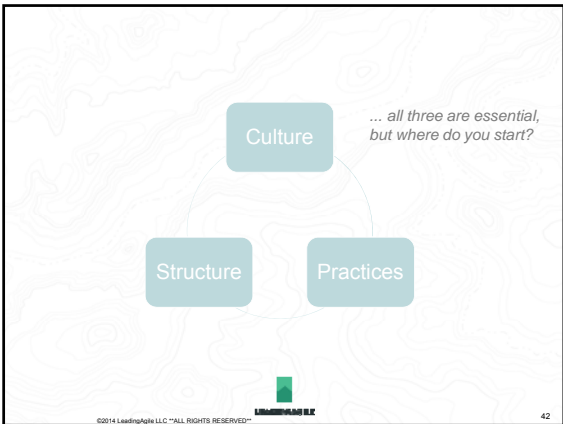

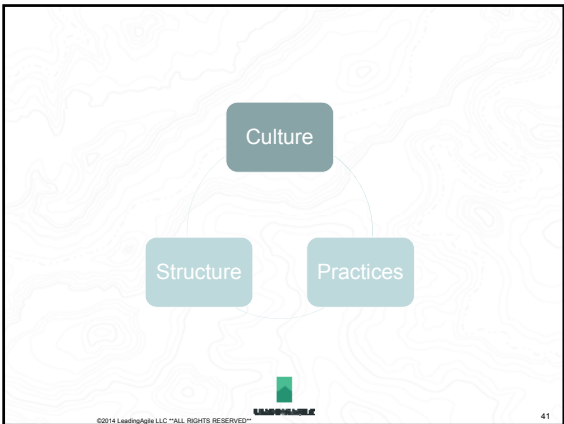

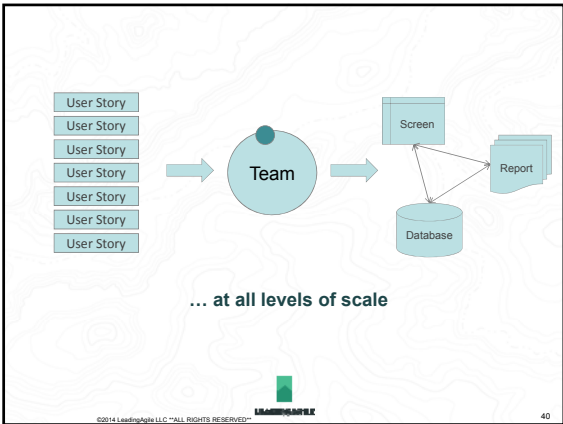

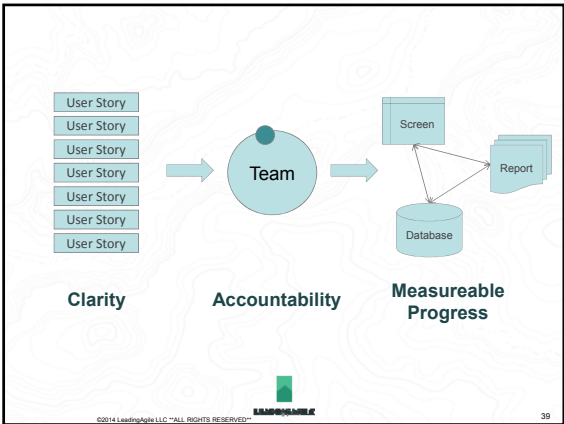

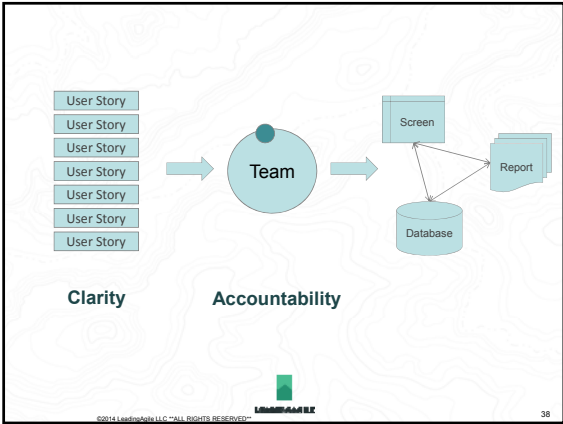

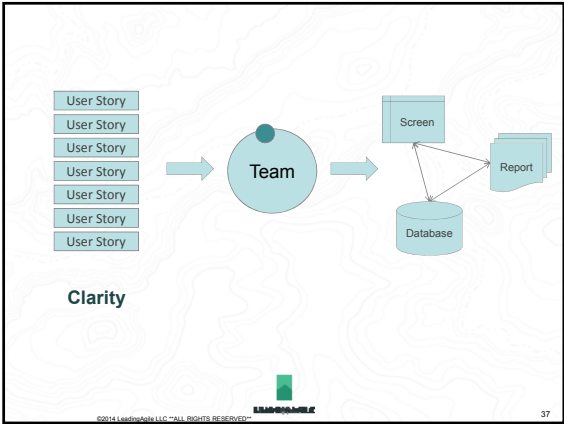

- Focused on changing hearts and minds
- Focused on being agile rather than doing agile
- Focused on values and principles

©2014 LeadingAgile LLC "ALL RIGHTS RESERVED" 43

- Focused on changing hearts and minds
- Focused on being agile rather than doing agile
- Focused on values and principles
- Belief that delivery systems will emerge based on new thinking

©2014 LeadingAgile LLC "ALL RIGHTS RESERVED" 44

- Focused on the things that you do
- Focused on roles, ceremonies, and artifacts
- Can be management driven or technically driven

©2014 LeadingAgile LLC "ALL RIGHTS RESERVED" 45

- Focused on the things that you do
- Focused on roles, ceremonies, and artifacts
- Can be management driven or technically driven
- Belief that agile is a process or way to work

©2014 LeadingAgile LLC "ALL RIGHTS RESERVED" 46

- Focused on forming teams and governing the flow of value
- Focused on aligning the organization first

©2014 LeadingAgile LLC "ALL RIGHTS RESERVED" 47

- Focused on forming teams and governing the flow of value
- Focused on aligning the organization first
- Belief that culture and practices only emerge within a rational structural and planning framework

©2014 LeadingAgile LLC "ALL RIGHTS RESERVED" 48

Working Hypothesis:

Agile transformation begins by defining a rational system of delivery for the enterprise

Working Hypothesis:

True agility comes by breaking dependencies between teams across the organization

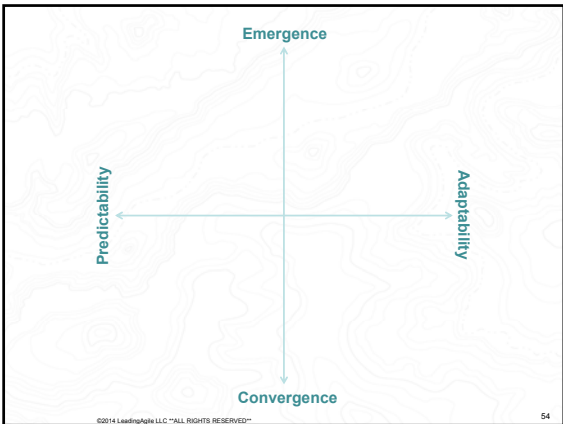

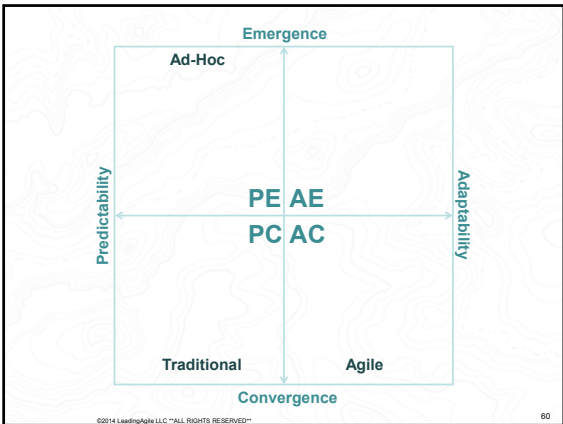

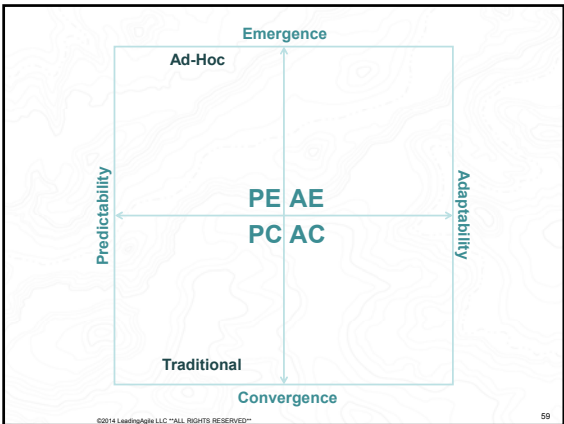

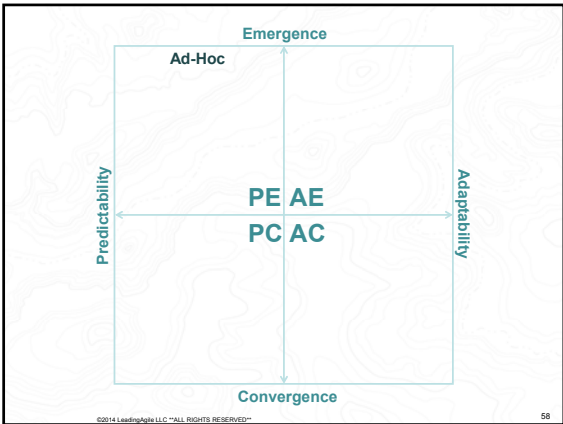

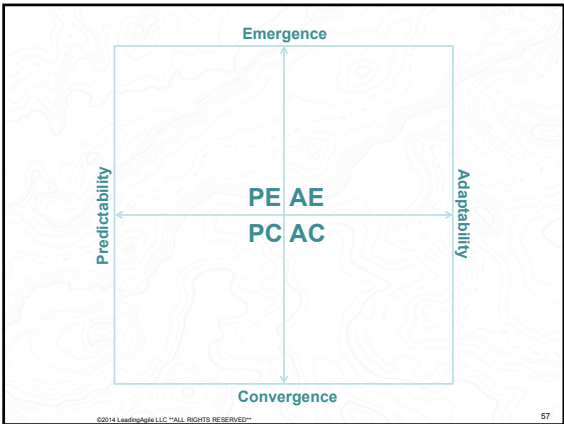

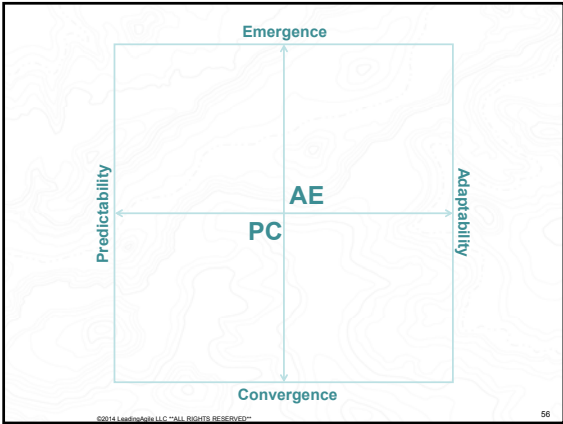

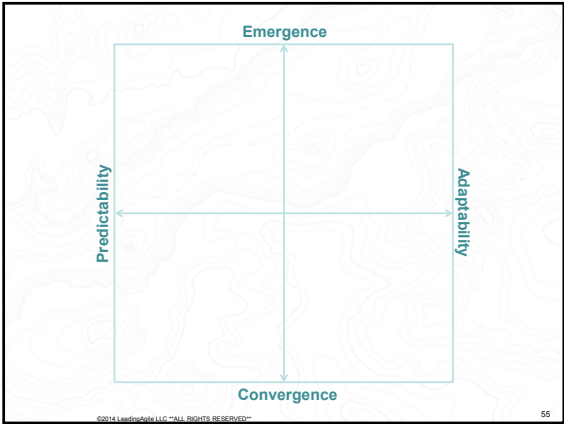

Working Hypothesis:

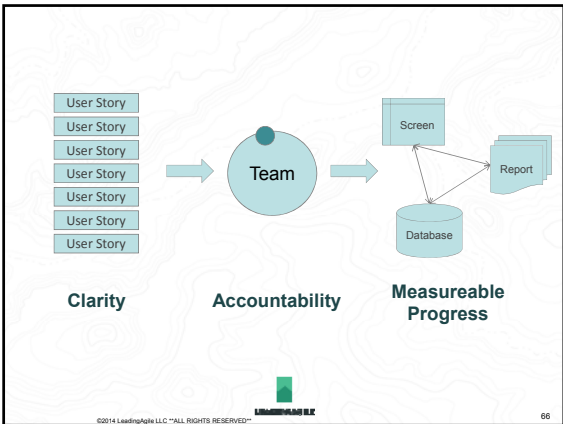

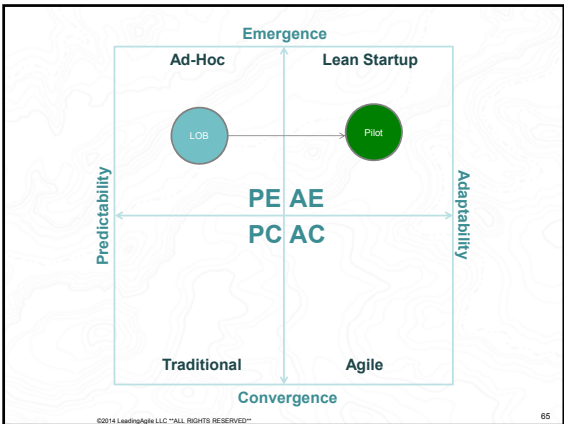

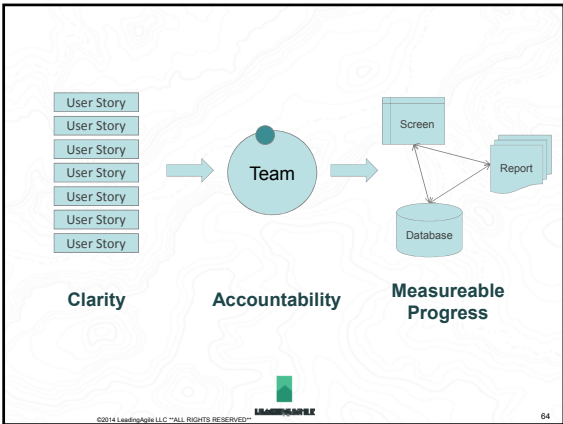

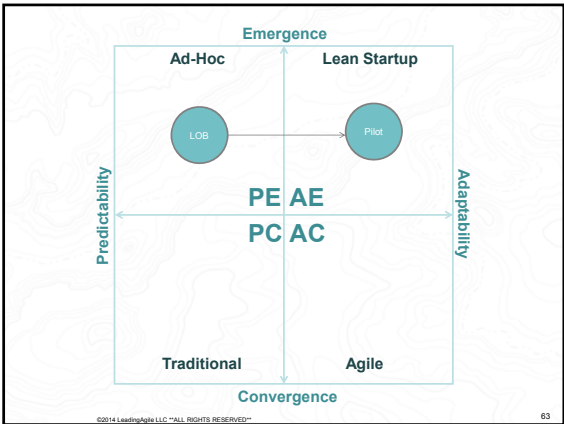

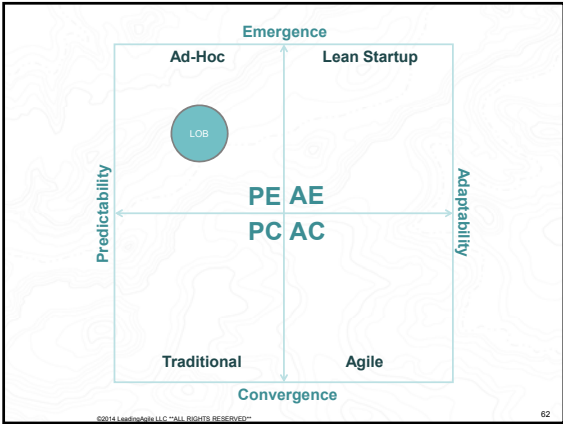

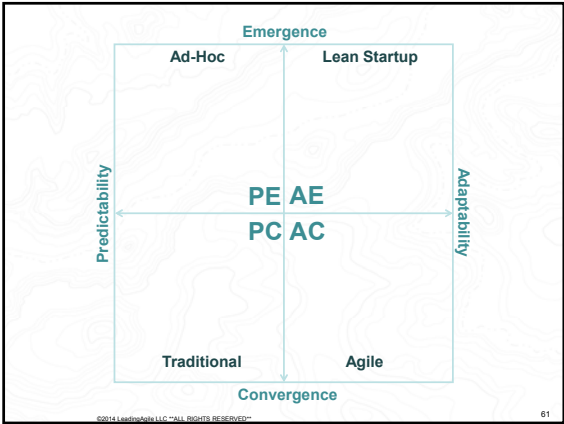

Healthy culture and solid practices emerge within a rational delivery framework

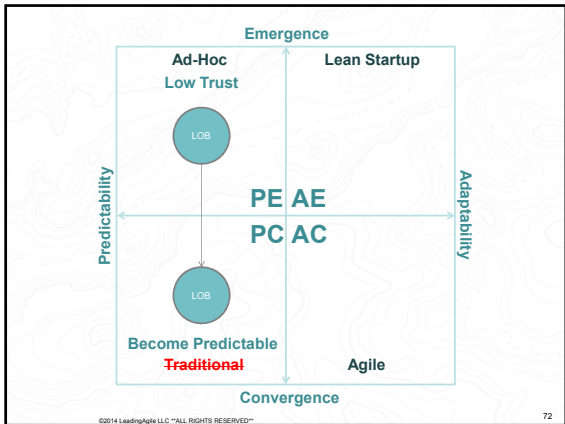

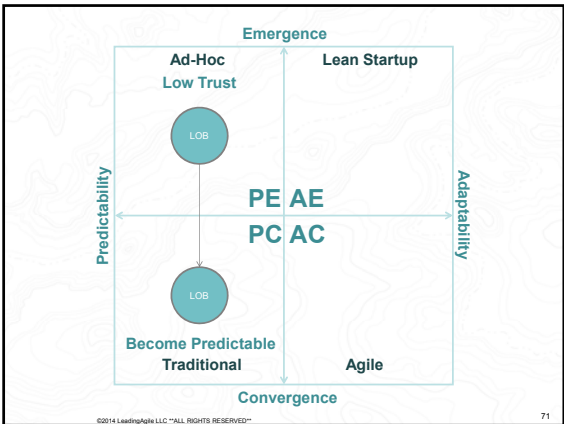

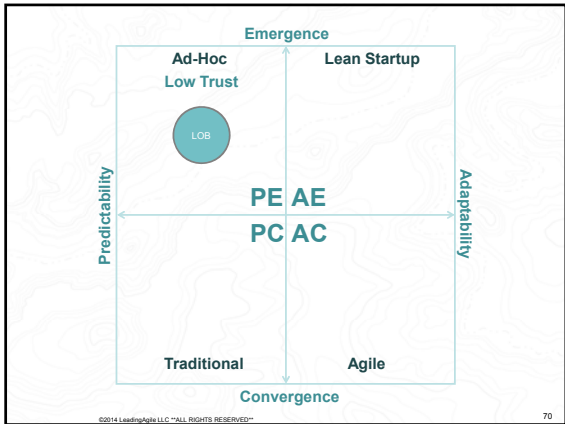

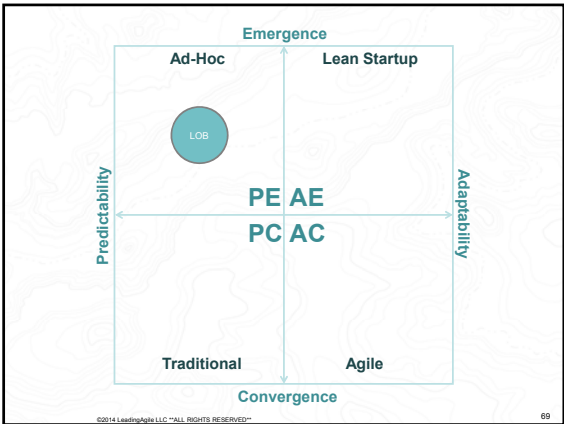

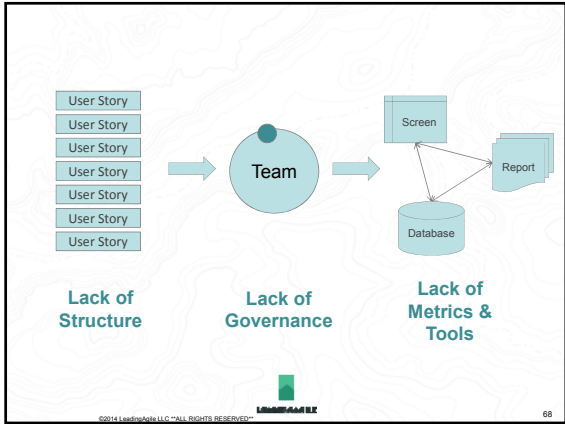

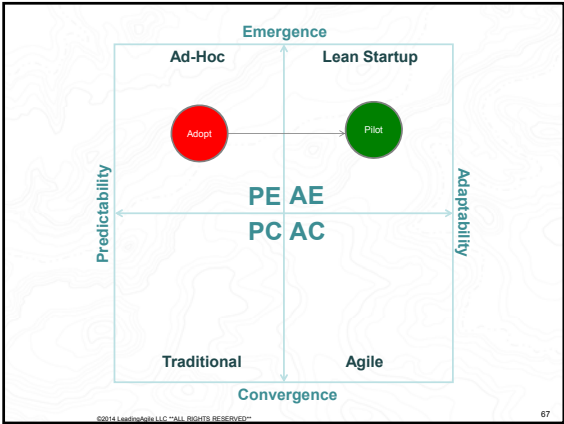

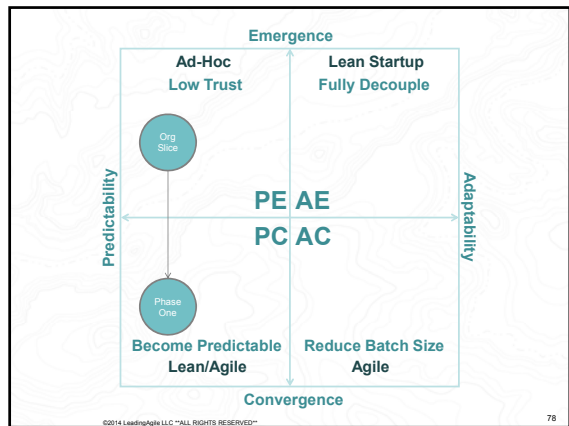

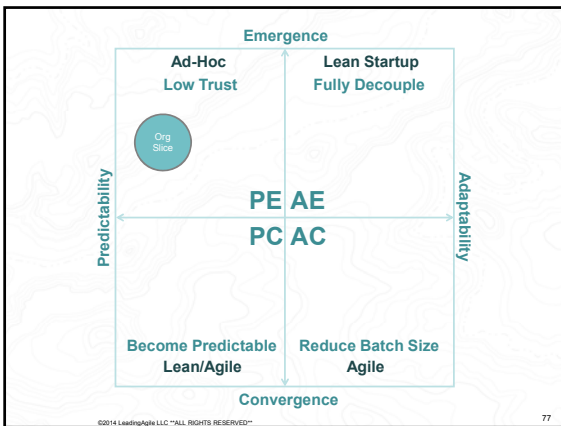

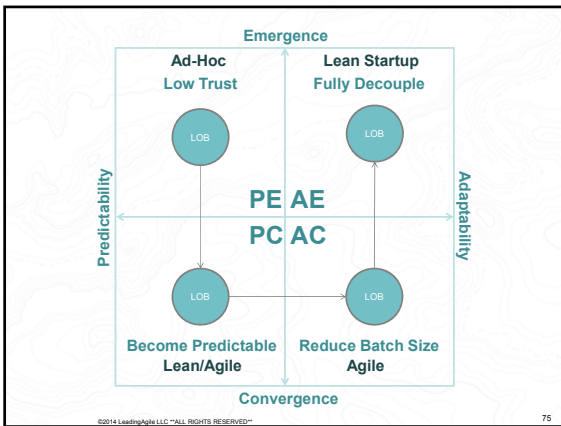

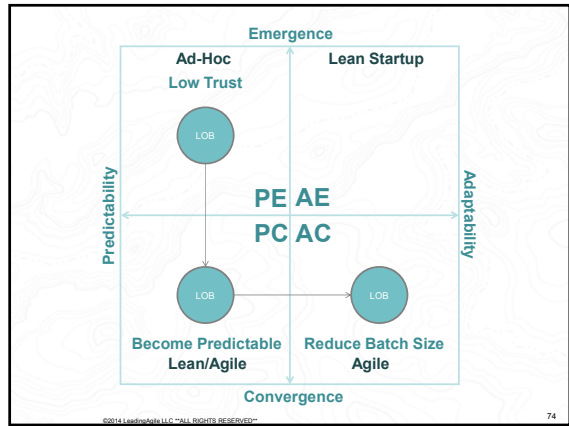

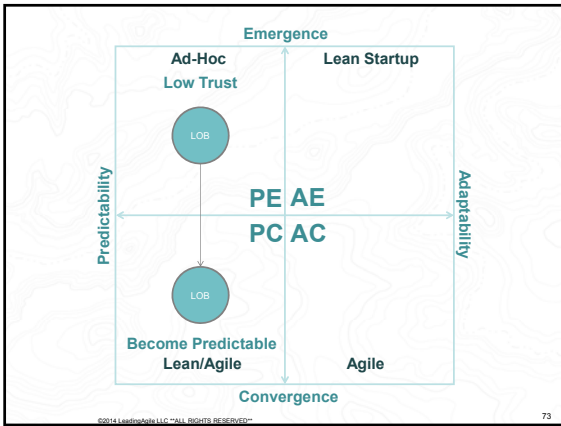

MAPPING YOUR AGILE TRANSFORMATION

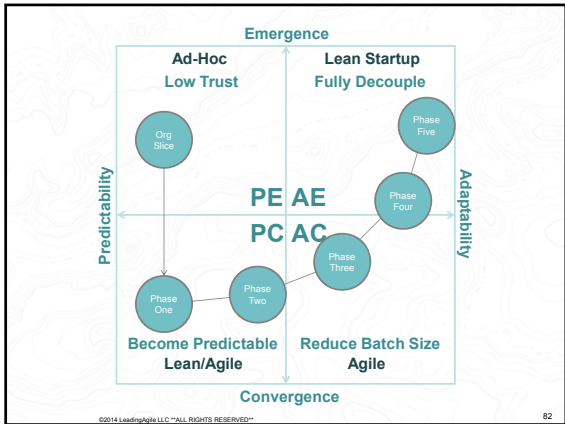

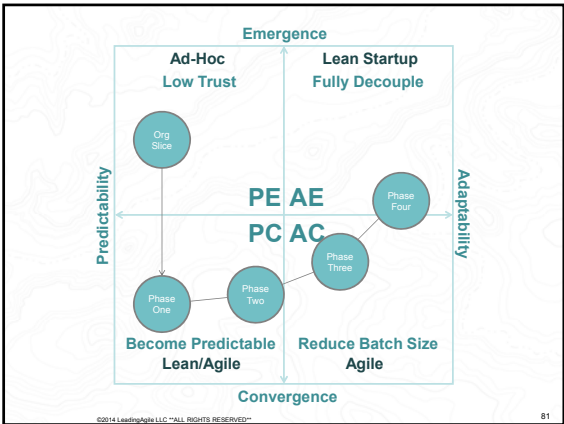

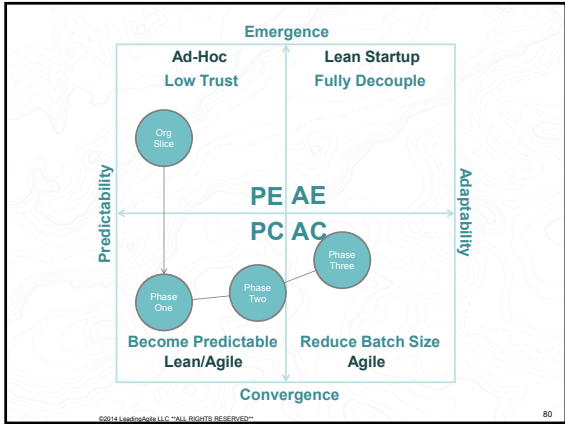

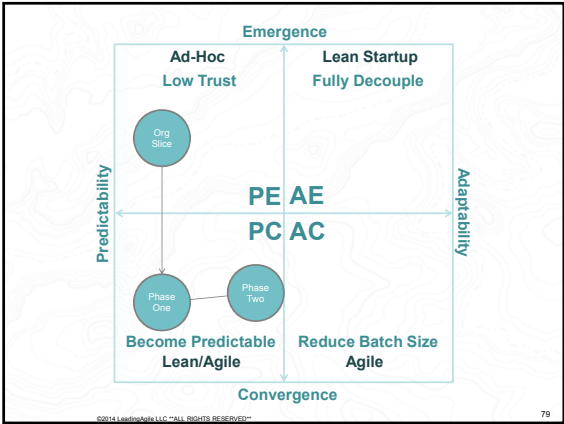

84

Product Teams – These teams integrate services and write customer facing features. This is the proto-typical Scrum team.

Services Teams – These teams support common services across product lines. These teams support the needs of the product teams.

©2014 LeadingAgile LLC "ALL RIGHTS RESERVED" 85

Programs Teams – These teams define requirements, set technical direction, and provide context and coordination.

Product Teams – These teams integrate services and write customer facing features. This is the proto-typical Scrum team.

Services Teams – These teams support common services across product lines. These teams support the needs of the product teams.

©2014 LeadingAgile LLC "ALL RIGHTS RESERVED" 86

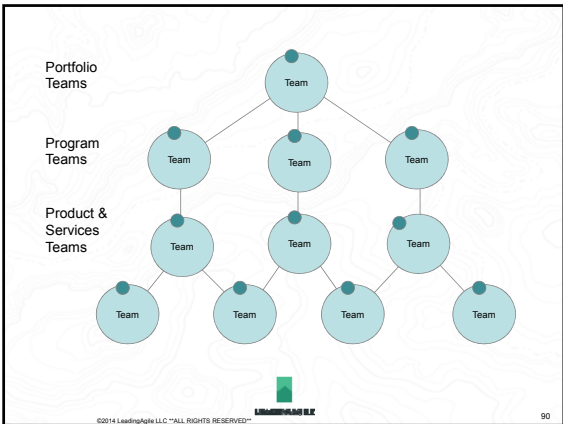

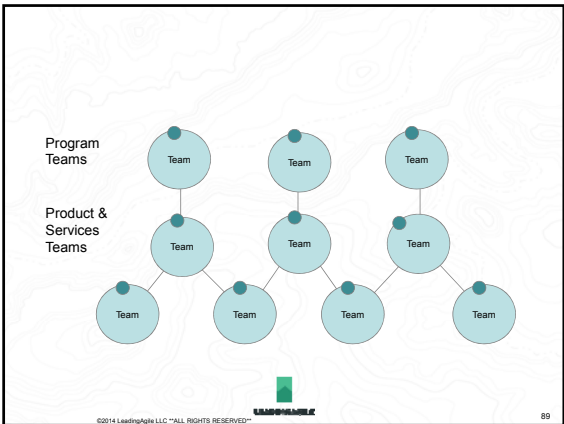

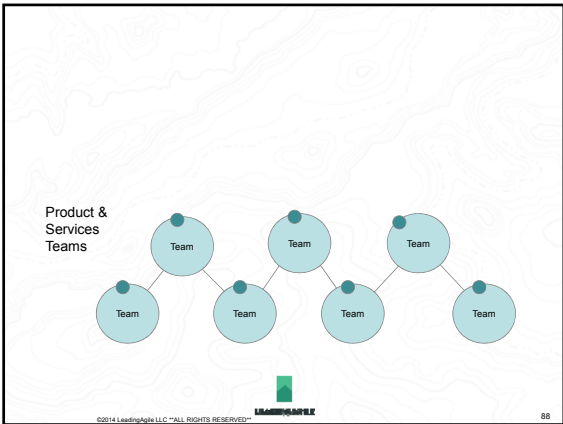

Portfolio Teams – These teams govern the portfolio and make sure that work is moving through the system.

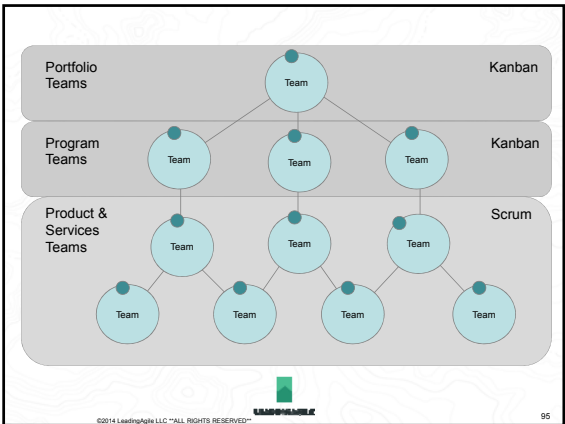

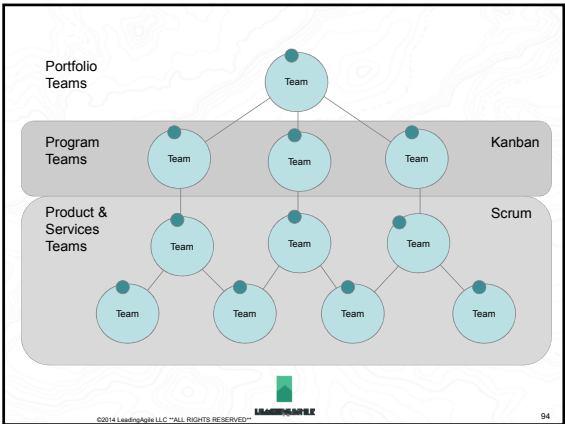

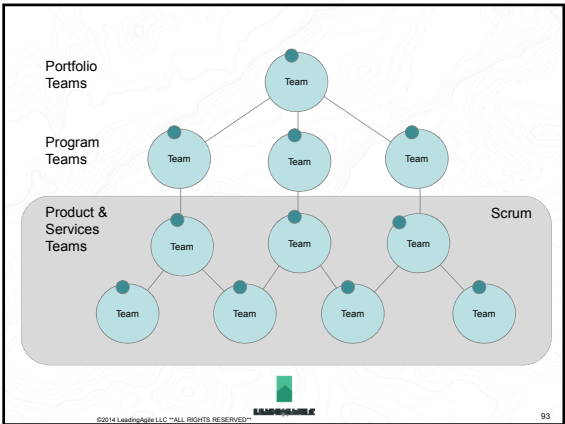

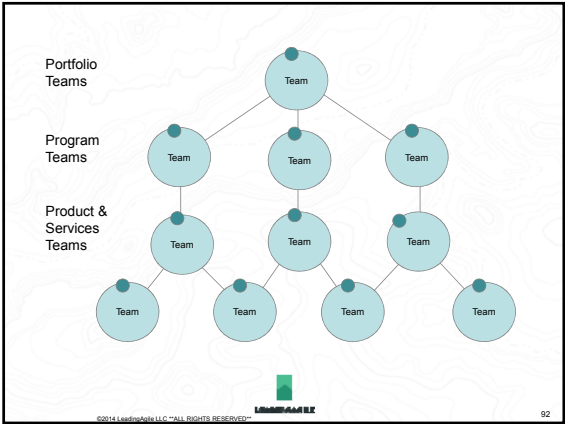

Programs Teams – These teams define requirements, set technical direction, and provide context and coordination.

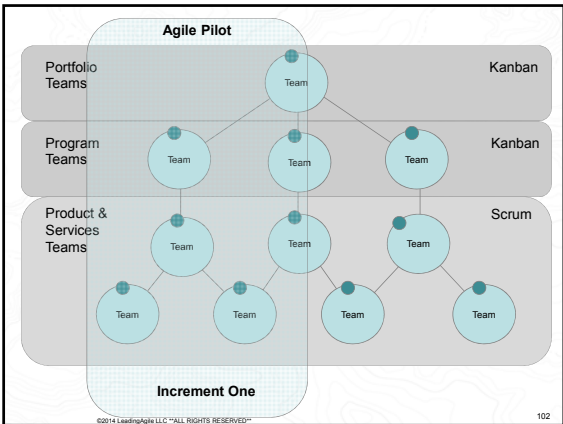

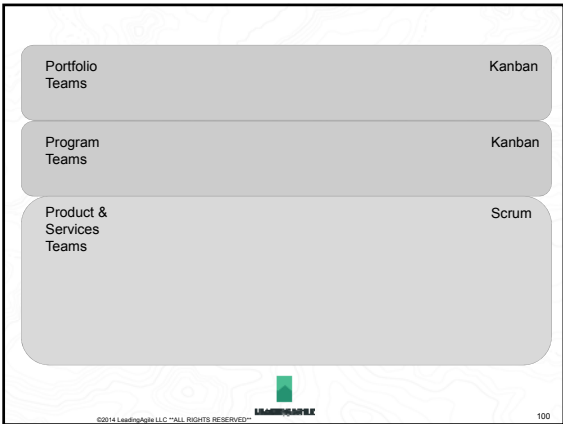

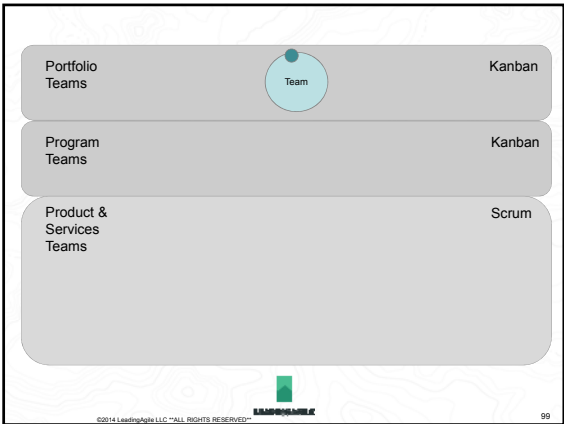

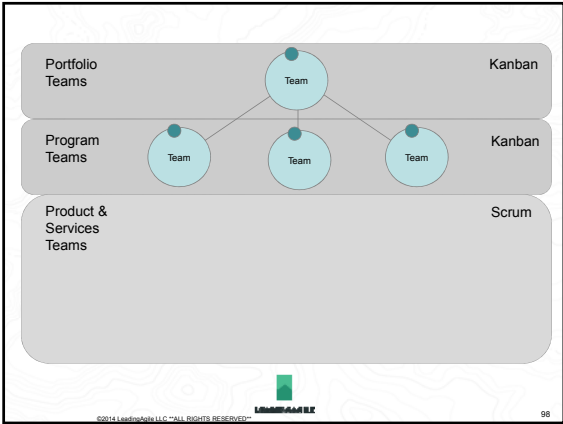

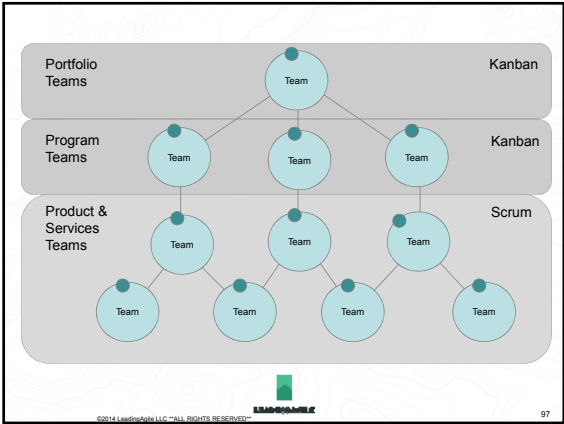

Product Teams – These teams integrate services and write customer facing features. This is the proto-typical Scrum team.

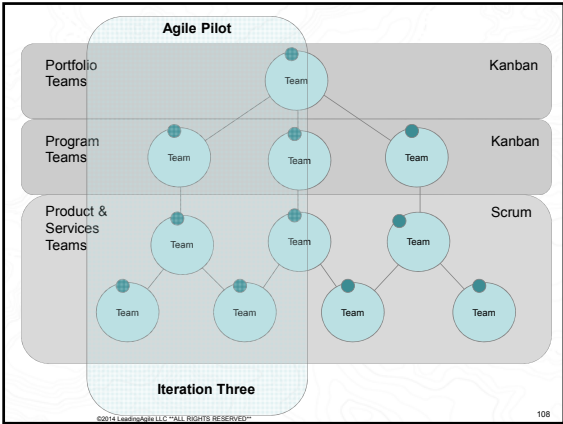

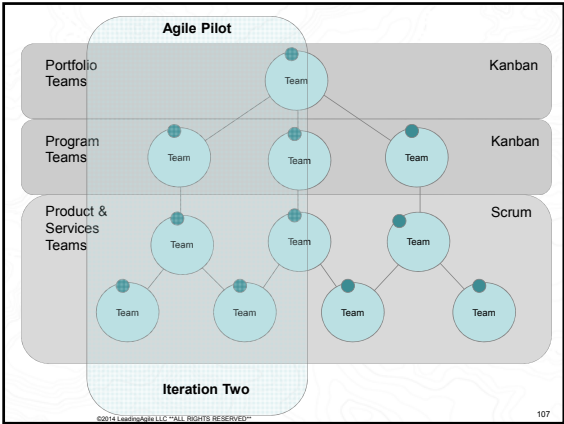

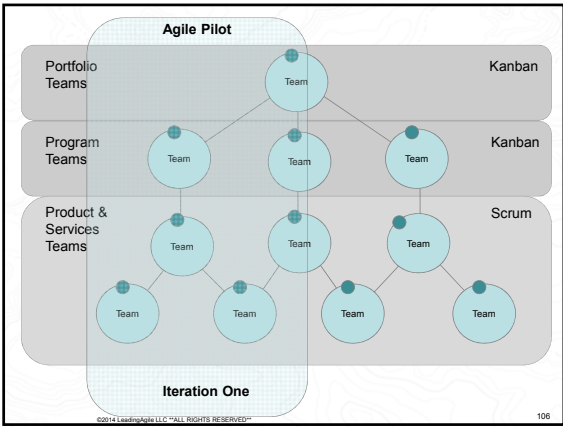

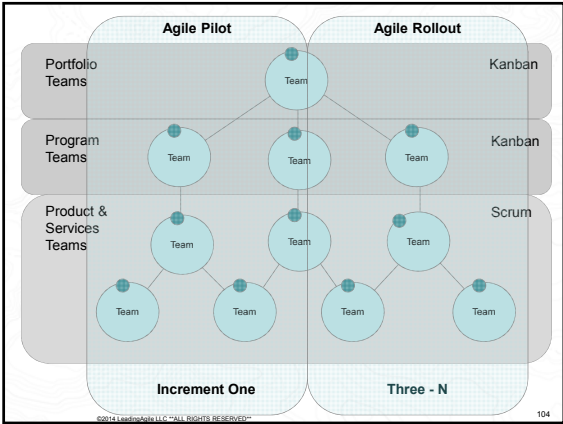

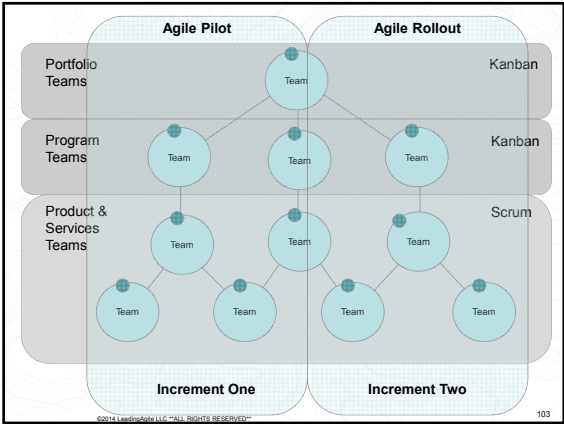

Services Teams – These teams support common services across product lines. These teams support the needs of the product teams.

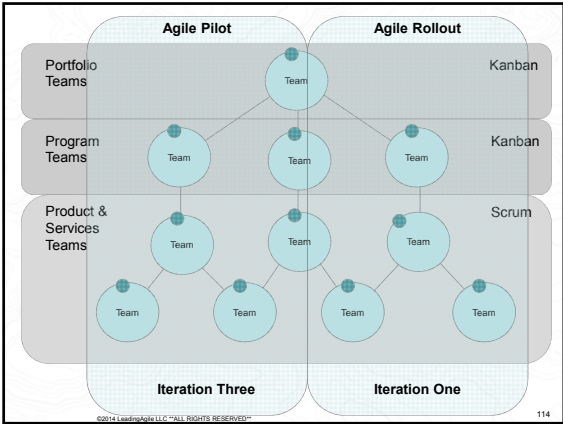

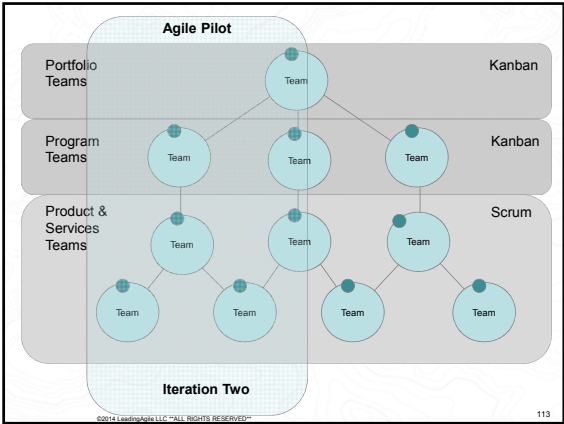

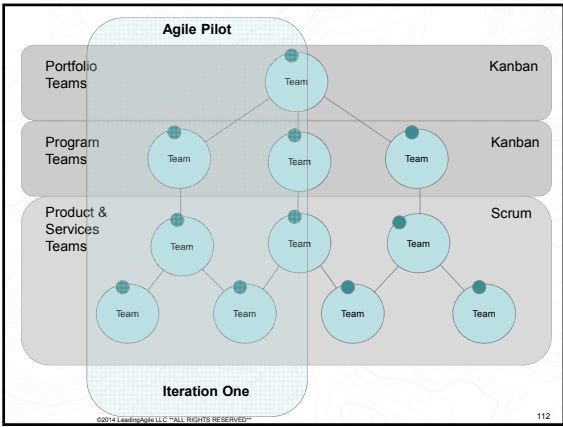

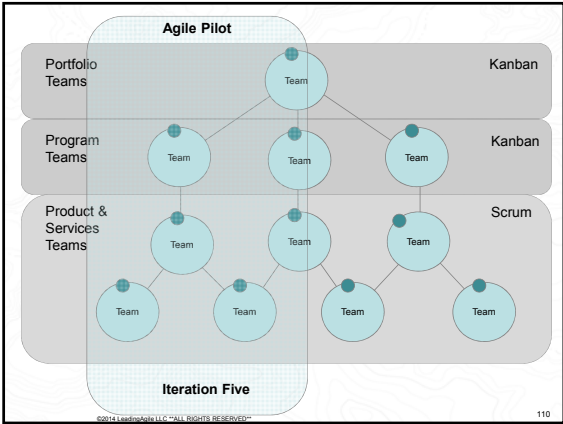

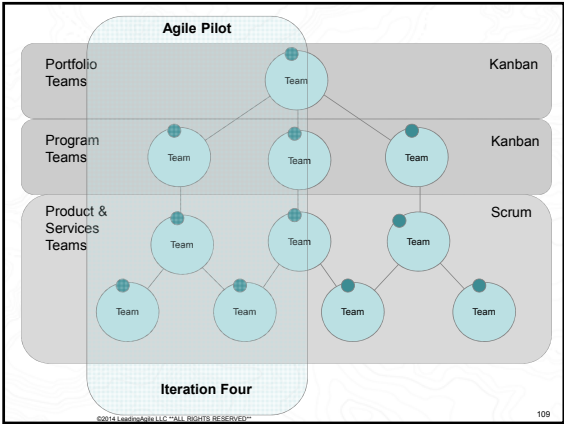

©2014 LeadingAgile LLC "ALL RIGHTS RESERVED" 87

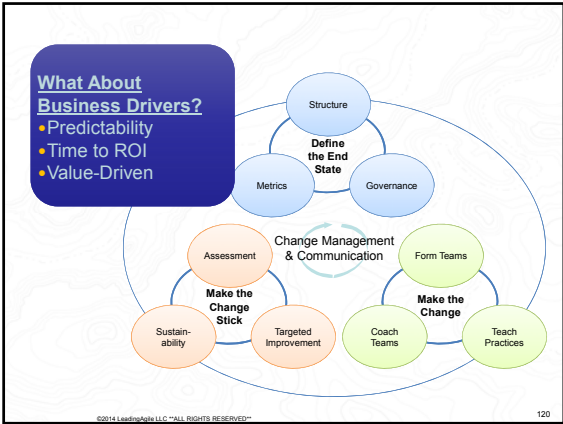

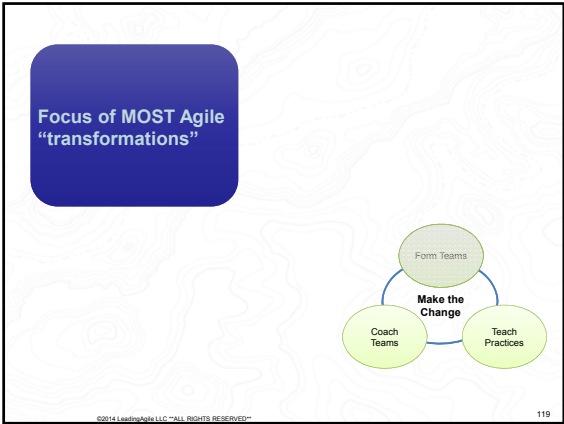

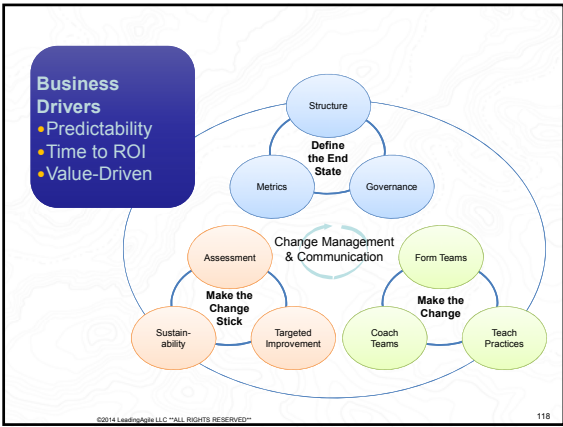

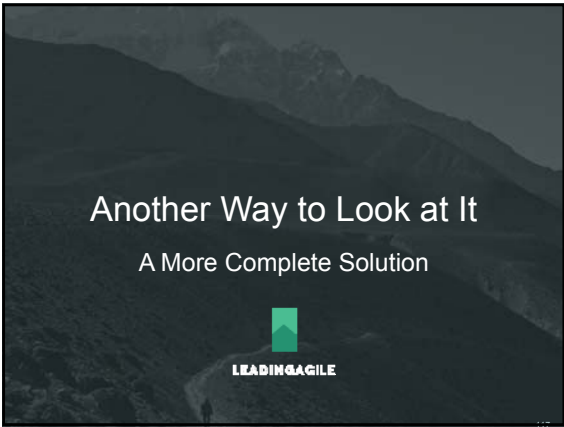

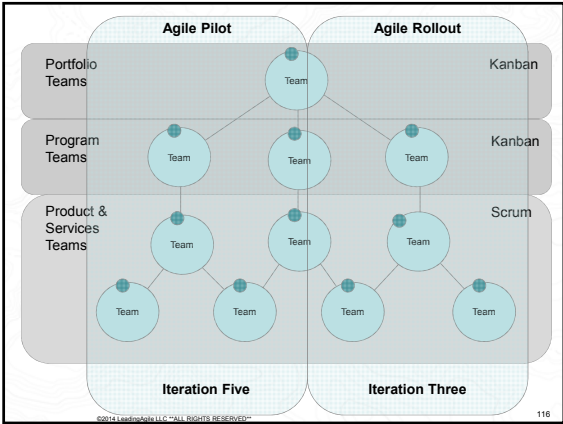

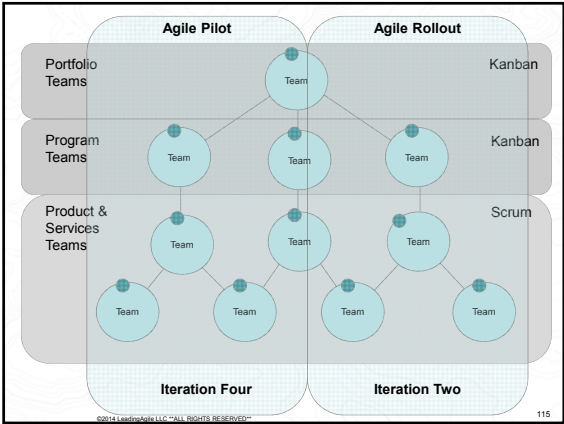

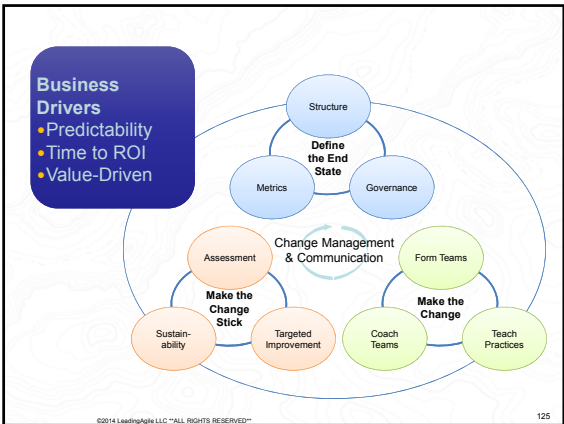

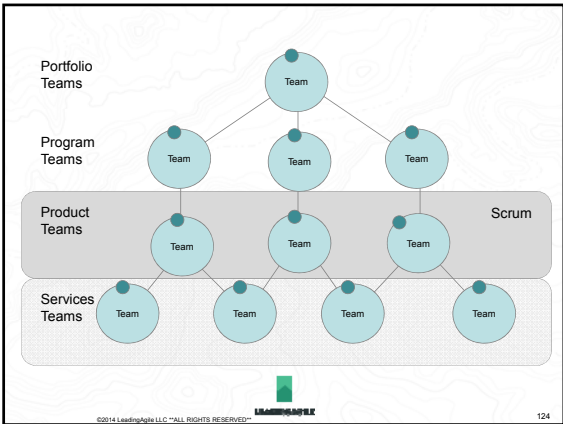

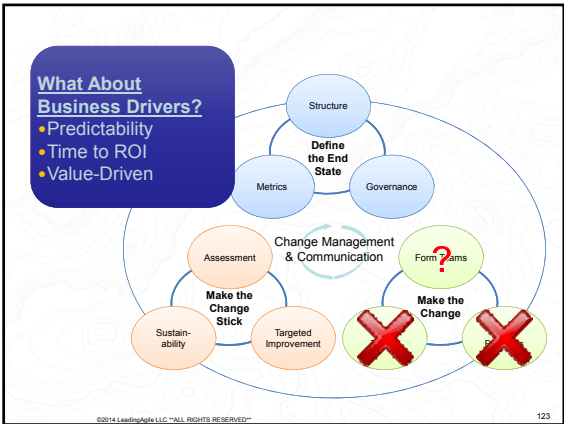

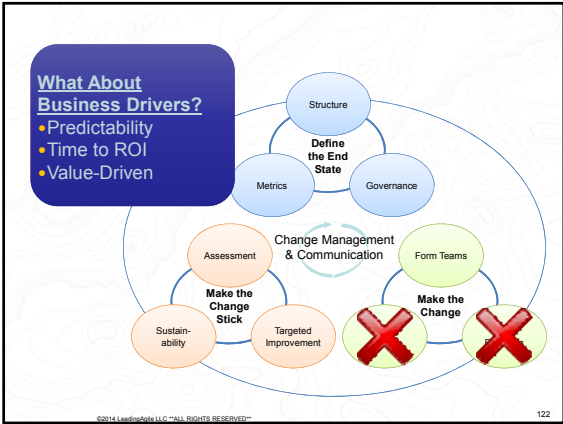

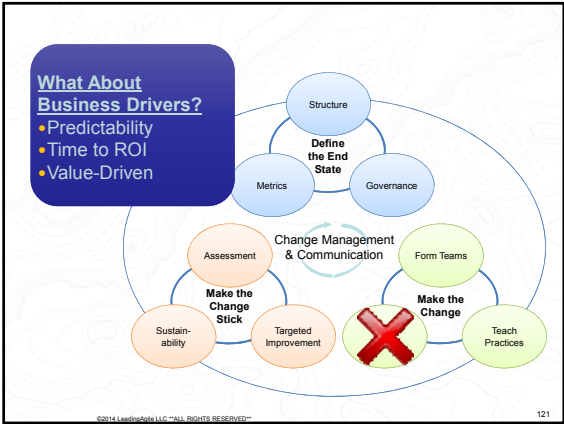

Summary

By focusing on the fundamentals of agile delivery, while systematically and methodically breaking dependencies, we can achieve true enterprise agility

THANK YOU

WHY AGILE IS FAILING
at the ENTERPRISE

And at least a thing or two that can be done about it.

